DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 5, 2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1-5 are indefinite as to the term "MS-275", which fails to clarify the chemical name or structure.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The claimed invention is drawn to "A method of treating persons suffering from acute or chronic degenerative conditions or diseases of the eye". Such method requires treatment of unspecified diseases and no evidence indicates treatable diseases were known to the applicant. Therefor, the fact pattern indicates that applicant was not in possession of the claimed method of use. In the absence of understanding the diseases to be treated, the artisan would not have accepted that applicant was in possession of the claimed invention. The claims also relate to the use of "depsipeptides". The instant specification fails to describe any compounds encompassed by such term. Therefore the claimed invention is not supported by an adequate written description.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.

4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bressi et al. (US 7,154,002).

Bressi et al. teach the use of histone deacetylase inhibitors in the treatment of conditions such as diabetic retinopathy and macular degeneration. See column 33, lines 45-55 and column 34 lines 5-20. The above reference in column 3, teaches the use of the claimed compound SAHA as a histone deacetylase inhibitor. It would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art to use the claimed histone deacetylase inhibitor for the treatment of conditions such as dry macular degeneration, cellular damage associate with diabetic retinopathy and primary open angle glaucoma, motivated by the teaching of Bressi et al., which teaches the use of the claimed compound, SAHA as a histone deacetylase inhibitor, and also the use of histone deacetylase inhibitors for the treatment of macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy and glaucoma.

Applicant's arguments and remarks have been carefully considered, but are not deemed to be persuasive. Applicant in his remarks argues that Bressi et al. does not teach the use of histone deacetylase inhibitor for the degenerative conditions of the eye. The arguments are not well taken, considering that the prior art teaches the use of histone deacetylase inhibitors for the treatment of macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy and glaucoma. Macular degeneration is considered to be a degenerative disorder, regardless of being wet or dry. Furthermore, diabetic retinopathy is a degenerative disorder, considering that it causes degeneration and damage to the retinal cells. Finally, glaucoma regardless of the type is also a degenerative disorder, since it causes damage to optic nerve.
